

The Silver State Works initiative is designed to connect Nevada businesses with eligible out-of-work Nevadans in order to move the state toward economic security. Employers may choose from three components in the program:

Employer Based Training – training eligible participants at the place of business in new occupational skills.

Employer Incentive Job Program – reimbursement of a portion of the newly hired employee’s wages during the critical initial training period.

Incentive Based Employment – bonus paid to the employer for retaining a newly hired employee for 120 days.

Additional information on each component can be found at: www.silverstateworks.com
